Athletes Against Bullies

brings awareness to the topic of bullying in schools and provides counseling resources for athletic coaches, school teachers, students, victims of bullying, and students who have bullied others and are seeking to better their lives. In addition, the organization will provide professional athletes (retired and active) who will speak about bullying at public schools.

Athletes Against Bullies is a non-profit organization that will seek to educate adults and youth about the dangers of bullying, teach ways to prevent bullying, and explain how to correctly handle a bullying situation in a variety of settings.

Explanation of the Problem (source: Daily Herald-Salt Lake City, 5/19/13, 'Scared in School') Bullying is unwanted, aggressive behavior among school aged children that involves a real or perceived power imbalance. The behavior is repeated, or has the potential to be repeated, over time. Bullying includes actions such as making threats, spreading rumors, attacking someone physically or verbally, and excluding someone from a group on purpose. Bullying can happen in the adult world, but the best long-term solution is to address bullying that occurs during youth.

SKI-Lee Donarski

2013 Warrior Open Participant | 2012 Warrior Open Participant

First Lieutenant "Ski" Donarski served 10-and-a-half years in the United States Marine Corps and was honorably discharged in 1998. On September 11, 2001, he waived his VA benefits. Then, in 2004, he re-enlisted in the United States Army.

In 2005, First Lieutenant Donarski was seriously wounded during combat in Anbar Province, Iraq. He suffered from a traumatic brain injury, PTSD and a stable burst fracture in his neck and back. He lost vision in his right eye, which requires the use of a prosthetic soft lens, and has had surgeries on both shoulders.

After 13 months of rehabilitation at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, he was reassigned to 2nd Battalion, 7th Special Forces Group (Airborne). He deployed to Afghanistan again in 2009 and successfully completed his tour. First Lieutenant Donarski was accepted into the U.S. Army Officer Candidate School and later commissioned as a Lieutenant in the Military Intelligence Branch as an All-Source Intelligence Officer.

While attending Military Intelligence School, he was struck by a pick-up truck, which triggered his traumatic brain injury and PTSD, among other injuries. After several years in various medical facilities, he was unable to return to combat and was medically discharged in August 2012.

He is the recipient of many awards and decorations for his service, including the Purple Heart. He has two wonderful daughters, McKenzi and Maya.

Only 20-30 % of bullying ever gets reported

Most Bullying occurs in the Middle School Ages

Most Bullying incidents can be stopped within 10 seconds, if someone helps (teacher, adult, friend, peer)

79% Boys & 83% Girls say they've experienced Bullying either at School or Online

Tragically there are 1,000's of incidents occurring every day that go unreported

75% of Bullying or being harassed, can be linked to suicides and murders (like school shootings)

School Bullying Awareness Programs help reduce the number of incidents by 25%

Bullying has become a major issue for our youth of today.
With your help and support, we can prevent Bullying!

Bullying Facts

According to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services' (DHHS) anti-bullying website, Stopbullying.gov, bullying is defined as "intentionally aggressive, usually repeated" verbal, social, or physical behavior aimed at a specific person or group of people. Some bullying actions are considered criminal, such as harassment or hazing; but "bullying" alone is not illegal. And recent news stories abound with tales of cyberbullying – where the target is harassed through social media or other technology – that have unfortunately resulted in victims' suicides. The majority of bullying still takes place at school; 1 in 3 U.S. students say they have been bullied at school, according to the DHHS. More shocking bullying statistics for 2014 follow:

- ▣ 20 percent of U.S. students in grades 9-12 reportedly have experienced bullying, while 28 percent of students in grades 6-12 report the same. Experts agree that most incidences of bullying occur during middle school.
- ▣ According to one study cited by the DHHS, 29.3 percent of middle school students had experienced bullying in the classroom; 29 percent experienced it in hallways or lockers; 23.4 percent were bullied in the cafeteria; 19.5 percent were bullied during gym class; and 12.2 percent of bullied kids couldn't even escape the torture in the bathroom.
- ▣ Most of the student in the study reported name calling as the most prevalent type of bullying, followed by teasing, rumor-spreading, physical incidents, purposeful isolation, threats, belongings being stolen, and sexual harassment. Surprisingly, cyberbullying occurred with the least frequency.
- ▣ 70.6 percent of teens have seen bullying occurring in their schools – and approximately 30 percent of young people admit to bullying themselves. With so many students seeing what goes on, one has to wonder why bullying proliferates – especially since the DHHS reports that bullying stops within 10 seconds 57 percent of the time when someone intervenes. Juvonen found in her study that "A simple message, such as 'Bullying is not tolerated,' is not likely to be very effective," and that effective anti-bullying programs need to focus on the bystanders, who can step in and stop the behavior.

Bullying Facts

- ❑ Most experts agree that bullying peaks in middle school, while children are making the transition from children to young adults. Although bullying certainly continues into high school – and even into adulthood, unfortunately – it does seem to subside with maturity. Even so, approximately 160,000 teens reportedly skip school every day because of bullying, and 1 in 10 teens drops out of school due to repeated bullying.
- ❑ 83 percent of girls, and 79 percent of boys report being bullied either in school or online.
- ❑ 75 percent of school shootings have been linked to harassment and bullying against the shooter.
- ❑ Not shockingly, students who are bullies as young adults continue the trend of abuse and violence into adulthood. By the age of 30, approximately 40 percent of boys who were identified as bullies in middle- and high school had been arrested three or more times.

Unfortunately, children and teens who are considered “different” from their peers are the most frequent targets of bullies. Special needs students; Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgendered (LGBT) students; students who are overweight; and students who are perceived as “weak” are the most likely targets of bullying by others. 9 out of 10 LGBT youth report being verbally bullied because of their sexual orientation, while 55.2% of those students reported being cyberbullied. Of special needs students who report bullying, the majority of those who are victimized are students diagnosed with Asperger’s Syndrome, and students with Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD).

STOPPING THE BULLYING CYCLE:

- ❑ Unfortunately, only 20-30 percent of students who are bullied tell adults or authorities about their situations. Without accurate reporting, it’s difficult to change the patterns of bullying and abuse that persist in the U.S.

More Bullying Facts

- ▣ School bullying prevention programs are known to decrease bullying in schools up to 25 percent.
- ▣ About 28 percent of students in grades 6-12 experience some form of bullying according to bullying statistics 2013. Over 30 percent of students admit to bullying classmates and peers. When an adult intervenes in a bullying incident, it stops within 10 seconds or more about 57 percent of the time. This is why addressing the problem often cuts down on bullying incidents that happen daily.
- ▣ There are many different types of bullying. According to Hertz, Donato and Wright there is a strong correlation between bullying and suicide related behaviors. The relationship is often influenced by o factors like depression and delinquency. Those bullied by peers were more likely to think of suicide and even attempt it.
- ▣ Middle school students report many different forms of bullying during the school years. About 44.2% of bullying is teasing which is often playing jokes and calling a child names. Over 43.3 percent of children have rumors and lies spread about them verbally or online. About 36.3 percent of children experience pushing and shoving in lines or class, 32.4% report hitting, shoving, and kicking by peers, and 29.2% have been left out or ignored by classmates.
- ▣ About 28.5 percent of middle school students been threatened by peers and classmates and 27.4 report someone stealing their belongings as another type of bullying. Over 23.7 percent report sexual comments and gestures as another form of bullying.
- ▣ Where does bullying occur many parents and teachers wonder about the location. Bullying takes place on school grounds and often on the bus. This is not the only place it occurs however ! Cyber bullying occurs on cell phones and online on social networks, boards, and through email. A study of middle school students reported that they were bullied about 29.3% in classrooms, 29.0% in the school hallways or near lockers, and 23.4% in the cafeteria.
- ▣ Other locations that school student were bullied were 19.5% of the time the gym or PE class, the bathroom 12.2%, and the playground or recess 6.2 % .. This study shows that bullying occurs in many locations where children gather to study, play, or hang out. Only between 20 to 30 percent of students that are bullied tell an adult or teacher about the incident.
- ▣ The Bureau of Justice School Bullying and Cyber Bullying reports that bullying often leads to violence. About 87 percent of students say school shootings are motivated by the desire to get back at those who have hurt them. About 86 percent in this study cite bullying as the reason that kids turn to lethal violence. Some students believe that experiencing physical or emotional abuse at home can lead to similar behavior at school. About 61 percent linked school shootings with the perpetrator being physically abused at home. These are some of the statistics from their study.
- ▣ Knowing the bullying statistics 2013 gives parents, teachers, and other adults knowledge of the problem. It does not stop or resolve the problem that many boys and girls face every day at school or online. This problem affects all groups despite the race, sex, gender, religion, or nationality. Some statistics give higher rates for handicapped and LGBT youth.
- ▣ Bullying statistics 2013 offer key points on what to look for in your child or at children in school. Knowing the types of bullying and where it occurs gives an adult the advantage. Remember statistics on bullying 2013 point to a problem that must be addressed to change things.

About Athletes Against Bullies

Athletes Against Bullies is a non-profit (501 C-3) organization that, with your support and participation, will seek to educate adults and youth about the dangers of bullying, teach ways to prevent bullying, how to correctly handle a bullying situation in a variety of different settings.

AAB brings awareness to the topic of bullying in our schools and provides counseling resources for coaches, teachers, students, victims of bullying and students who have bullied others and are seeking to better their lives.

AAB will provide professional athletes (retired and active) who will speak to our communities about this major social issue facing our youth today, BULLYING!

AAB is launching a 25 Market Charity Golf Tour / Tournament to bring awareness to this issue and raise monies to fund programs in those communities

AAB isn't just looking for money, although nice, we are looking for Partners that will help stop this major social issue facing our youth today.

Hopefully with your support we can stop some of the senseless violence that can occur and even end in losing a life of a youth to either a murder or suicide.
